

West Coast Swing Critique Session with Deborah Székely

Sunday, April 8, 2018 - 10:00-11:30 a.m. - DanceLife Ballroom

What is it?	A 1-1/2 hour critique session with highly respected dancer, competitor, teacher and judge, Ms. Deborah Székely
Who is it for?	Dancers at every skill level with a variety of dance goals are welcome! Whether you just want to learn more about movement, become a more skilled social dancer, a more well-rounded instructor, a successful competitor, or just have more fun, this is a wonderful learning opportunity.
How will it help?	You may not be ready or able to take advantage of one-on-one, private instruction. This session is designed to cover material on a deeper level than is achievable in the typical workshop format. For a small investment you will see a big benefit!
How will it work?	Critiques will be done in pairs. One leader and follower at a similar dance level will dance for a few minutes and then receive feedback from Deborah on strengths and areas for improvement. She will also field related questions from the audience.
What if I just want to watch?	You aren't required to be critiqued! If you are too shy, or just don't feel up to it, feel free to participate strictly as an observer. You are sure to gain understanding through the exchange of ideas. Who knows, you may be inspired to volunteer next time!
How much does it cost?	$20 - Rebels members, Students w/ID, Sister club* members $25 - Everyone else It is NOT included in any pass. (*an out-of-state swing dance club)
Should I preregister?	Preregistration is strongly encouraged. Preregister now at a club class, dance or through the Rebels website (www.tcrebels.com).
